

Paper 3: Key Legislations relating to Children in India

This paper is primarily deals with the legal framework as regards children in India. It looks into the policies and laws on various issues pertaining to children such as child labour, education and child protection in addition to the special categories of children like disabled children and children of marginalized communities. The paper also makes an attempt to examine these legislations in terms of the challenges confronting their application and implementation.

The paper requires 240 hours of reading and reflection by the student that would also include solving the exercises and assignments.

1.1. Objectives of the Paper:

1. To facilitate an understanding various legislation related to children in India
2. To analyse the various provisions in the legislation and identify challenges for its implementation
3. To develop a perspective on the legal and policy framework related to children in india
4. To critically evaluate the provisions related to children various other legislation

1.2. Expected Outcomes:

After the completion of this paper, the students would have:

1. Oriented to the policy and legal framework related to child in India
2. Critically analysed various provisions in the laws related to children in India
3. Been able to identify the challenges in the application of laws related to children
4. developed the understanding of the various provisions related to children under other laws

1.3. Topics

Block 1 Legislation of Child Labour

Block 2 Legislation of Education

Block 3 Legislation and Bills for Child in Need of Care and Protection

Block 4: Legislation for Children in Conflict with Law

Block 5: Family Law and Family Courts

Block 6 Other legislation related to Children