NLSIU's Legal Service Clinic has won and received the Mac Jannet Prize for GLOBAL CITIZENSHIP second prize at Cape Town, South Africa, on 2nd December 2014 under the leadership of Prof.(Dr.) R. Venkata Rao, Vice-Chancellor, Prof.(Dr.) Ashok R. Patil, Faculty Advisor, LSC, and Mr. Basavanagouda Patil, Convenor, LSC were received the Award.

Mac.Jannet prize was established by Talloires Network and the Mac.Jannet Foundation to recognize exceptional student committee engagement, initiatives at Talloires Network member Universities and Contribute Financially to their ongoing public service efforts. It is a very proud moment for the Legal Services Clinic (LSC), National Law School of India University(NLSIU) was awarded for second place in the year 2014. The Legal Services Clinic of NLSIU works to bridge the gap between justice delivery system and underprivileged section of the society by organizing Legal Literacy camps, Social Action Mobilisation Camps, conducting Socio-Legal Surveys on issues relating to the urban, poor and the unrepresented public litigation/social Action litigation and interacting with Social Welfare Organisations. This gives the opportunity for the students to practice their skills which they have learnt in the classrooms in the Social platform.
